

06. Should I perform regular breast self-exams?

Doing a breast self-exam may help a woman detect a lump that might otherwise go unnoticed. However, most health organizations currently recommend clinical breast exams done by a doctor or trained expert, or mammograms, as the most reliable tools for detecting breast cancer.