

10. Can my primary doctor treat leukemia?

---

A team of specialists often treats people with leukemia. The team may include a hematologist who is a specialist in blood and blood-forming tissues, a medical oncologist who is a specialist in cancer treatment, and a radiation oncologist who is a specialist in radiation therapy. The team keeps the primary doctor informed of the patient's progress.